

STARTING QUADS

Quad racing is the 4-wheeled equivalent of a Motocross event. Open aged and open gendered races take place on an off road track to determine who can jump the highest, leap the furthest or go the fastest to reach the chequered flag. A truly inclusive sport, Quad racing is fun for the whole family. In fact, many third generation riders are now starting to race!

With no upper age limit, anyone can begin Quad racing from as young as 6 years old! No need for a driving licence, but you will need a SACU 'Motocross Competition Licence' (£25 - £48, engine dependant) which you can apply for via the Riders Portal.

Quad bikes can be purchased from a variety of dealers across the country, buy used from £300. (NB: Before purchasing a Quad, please speak to us as Quad dimensions and modification criteria need to be considered.

You will also need a helmet bearing the ACU gold or silver stamp (prices start from around £30).

Entry fees start from £45 youth, £60 adult, Club Membership £30 youth, £40 adult
